THE YARDSTICK OF TIME IN MIDDLE AMERICA

IN CHICHEN ITZA . . .
YOUR BARBACHANO HOTEL IS THE LUXURIOUS TROPICAL

IS Mayaland

Mayaland, a world famous jungle resort, sits in the heart of ancient Cichen Itza, amidst lush tropical gardens dotted with deluxe bungalows of exquisite handcarved furniture in the Maya tradition. Main building guest rooms in colonial style offer private terraces with superb views of the Mayan temples. Restaurant, Bar, Cafeteria, Convention Hall, Mayan Library, Post Office, Curios and Gift shops, filtered swimming pool, evening native dances and entertainment, are among its fine facilities and services.

● CHICHEN ITZA, NORTH GROUP

Sightseeing includes: The dramatically symmetrical, majestic Temple of Kukulkan (the Castillo) and its Mayan sub-structure which contains the famous Red Jaguar Throne inset with disks of jade... The ceremonial Ball Court, acoustically perfect and the largest known ball court... The Temple of the Tigers which forms one side of the Ball Court and is adorned with elaborate stone carvings, impressive carved columns of stone and remnants of colorful murals... The Dance Platform... the Group of The Thousand Columns... and other smaller structures.

THE WELL OF SACRIFICE, from which gold ornaments, ceremonial knives, balls of copal incense, jade beads and bones have been dredged is believed to have been used for sacrifices to the rain god.

● CHICHEN ITZA, CENTRAL GROUP (Pure Maya)

Sightseeing includes: The Observatory, also called the Caracol (snail) because of its circular form, was used by the Ancient Maya to observe and record the movements of the heavenly bodies to fix their times for planting and harvesting. The Maya calendar, derived from calculations made from such observations, was more accurate than the one we use today... The Nunnery and the Iglesia (church) both of which have extremely elaborate hand carved stone facades... The Temple of the Dark Writing, so called because of the painted hieroglyphs in the interior... and the Temple of the High Priests, which contains three tombs which when opened disclosed skeletons presumed to have been priests or chieftains... and smaller structures.

PALENQUE was barely visible in the sea of the jungle. It seemed to hang on the edge of the mountains, set at the very edge of an outlying finger of a jungle range projecting from the Tumbala escarpment. It looked down over a gentle undulating plain, where once, a thousand years ago, checkered milpas supplied the builders and later the occupants of the acropolis at Palenque.

Eighty miles distant lay the Laguna de Términos. The Maya craftsmen had shown great architectural daring to set their buildings at the very edge of a steep gorge six hundred feet above the costal plain. Palenque hung there like an unshed tear. Above it, back of it, the forest-clad mountains rose abruptly, huge and dominant, projecting verdure-covered heads three thousand feet into the sky.
